

May Day of Museums 2019

2019/05/10

At the Museum Festival to be held on May 18 and 19, 2019, National Széchényi Library will recall memories of 1989 from the perspective of 30 years.

This year our main topic will be: memories of 1989 from the perspective of 30 years.

Mimeographing? Krisztofóró? Linda? October 23. Kossuth Square? The Pregnant Papa? What is it that rings a bell for you of 1989?

At the 24th Museum Festival to be held on May 18 and 19, 2019, you can recall memories of 1989, or pass them on to your children. In the tent of NSZL, there will be samizdat-making, typing on a typewriter with two fingers (advanced typists may use ten fingers), photo wall with Linda, picture postcards and kid activities – naturally from 1989. In the building of the museum, visitors will be able to look at a free interactive photo exhibition [1], that has processed the photo material of the change in political regime with the latest technology.

Date: May 18, 10 a.m. – May 19, 2019, 6 p.m.
